Dear Horned Frogs,

Happy Thanksgiving! As Megan and I count our blessings this year, the Texas Christian University family is at the top of the list.

What makes TCU special has never changed — it's our people, our inspiring students and the community that embraces us. You support one another, take care of each other when it matters most and bring an undeniable spirit that I've never found anywhere else.

Whether you spend your days on campus or cheer from coast to coast, you're the reason this place feels like family. If you're traveling, travel safely; if you're here in Fort Worth, come support your Frogs at Amon G. Carter Stadium for the last home game on Saturday.

Above all, rest and recharge with family and friends, reflect on the blessings you've enjoyed and pass those kindnesses along. We are thankful for each of you and what you mean to the TCU community. Have a wonderful Thanksgiving break.

Always Lead and Go Frogs!
